The Free Kindergarten.

WE opened on the first Monday in October, 1882, with an attendance of fifty children. In the course of a few weeks the number was increased to eighty. The average attendance through the winter was sixty-five scholars, which may be considered a very favorable proportion, taking into consideration the age of the children, and the numerous drawbacks, such as inclement weather, deficiency, often, of proper clothing. From the character of the work sought to be accomplished by the K. G. no startling or brilliant immediate results are to be looked for, but by the patient training which is a mark of the system we trust that we are laying the foundation of sound, practical morality in our pupils as a basis for further development, while at the same time, opening their minds, and quickening their religious nature. The benefits of the K. G. have now been recognized by the class to which our efforts are directed, and to such an extent as to afford instances of families moving to our locality in order that their little ones might more readily attend. During the past year there have been a number of applications for admission, which, unfortunately, had to be refused in consequence of our limited accommodations. Were our quarters larger and located more favorably as to ventilation and brightness, no doubt our numbers would soon double.

The improvement, both in the manners and the intelligence of our children may be observed by any of our friends who will favor us with a visit. Numbers of visitors from distant points call and express their interest in the work, and we should be happy to see oftener our good friends of the congregation who so kindly contribute to the support of our K.

The needful assistance has, as heretofore, been rendered by my training class of kindergartners. The children have received the usual daily dinner, and thus, by one good meal, a substantial contribution has been made toward the health of these future men and women. The customary festivals have been held at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and on Fröebel's birthday, provision having been made by the good friends who have heretofore taken care of our wants on these occasions.

Kitchen Garden.

PRIMARY CLASS.

THERE were about thirty (30) girls in my class last winter, and my only regret was that I could not take more. It was really depressing to send away so many little children who were eager to learn kitchen-garden work. I would suggest for another winter's work, that the preparatory classes be limited to about eighteen or twenty girls in order to more thorough training, and that several classes be formed to meet the demand from our poor children.

The advanced class enrolls older girls and uses real articles in its lessons, China dishes, glass tumblers, etc.; thus ensuring the right application of the methods learned in the younger classes.

The class closed the latter part of May with an exhibition, showing the work of the year. I have living with me now one of these girls, trained in upper house work, and she is proving herself a most satisfactory illustration of the practical good of this work.

Miss Hitchcock, who stocked our class with utensils, has been experimenting in the direction of practical training in cookery; and we hope to embody her experience another winter.

ADELAIDE F. KERNER.

Industrial School.

THE School opened on Saturday, November 18th, with an attendance of 154 children. Ere long 285 names were on the roll, the average attendance being 215. On the 7th of April, when the School was closed, 51 scholars were graduated, and 8 prizes awarded. Five hundred and seventy garments (570) were made by the children and given to them; which required the following amount of material.

We tender our most sincere thanks to the Teachers, who have been untiring in their devotion to the School, and regret to announce the death of Miss Snow, one of our most faithful assistants.

Owing to the goodness of Mrs. R. M. Hunt and Mrs. Edward Brown two paid teachers were supplied for the entire winter, and one of the former scholars, most kindly gave her services as a teacher, and was most successful with her Class.

Parish Library.

IN the course of the past year, everything in our power has been done to make the Library what it ought to be. Some fifty new books have been added and all lost ones have been replaced. Notwithstanding, the interest in the Library has fallen off rather than improved, as is shown in our present report.

There are now in the Library, about 760 books, carefully selected from the best standard works on all subjects.

From time to time new books are added, and will be added upon the suggestion of any member of the congregation, when approved by the rector.

Entertainment Committee.

TWO free entertainments for the poor of our neighborhood were given during the winter in Manhattan Hall, and one in the lecture room of the Church. Those given in the Manhattan Hall were arranged by Miss Leaycraft, and that in the Sunday-School room was given by Miss Mary E. Cherry, to whom our cordial thanks are due. The experiment of the Hall was made to gain a larger and better room with stage facilities, and to see if we could improve the quality of our audiences, which in the Sunday-School room are apt to consist too largely of children. The experiment was quite satisfactory, and if we have means placed in our hands we think that we can thus secure at once better entertainments and better services.

The entertainments consisted of Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works, tableaux, readings, music, etc., and through them much real pleasure was given to many worthy poor.

We received from the Bureau $100 and had a balance from the preceeding year of $9.30, making a total of $109.30. Our expenses were :

Employment Society.

THE season has come for the managers of the Employment Society, to render an account of the work of last year, and to solicit a careful perusal of it; trusting that those not already interested in it may become so; as many light hands are constantly needed to carry on the work. Workers, donations and subscriptions are desired, as we are often obliged to turn worthy women away. When the Society reopened last season, twenty-four (24) women presented themselves for work; this number very soon increased to forty-five, which was more than we could supply with work. We were therefore obliged to reduce our number to thirty-five, where it remained until the close of the season. During that time, from December to May, the ladies cut out and prepared for distribution among the women 485 garments. Each applicant for work is subjected to a careful scrutiny by the Parish Visitor, Mrs. Adams, by whom all the women are visited and reports made of their condition and character. They eagerly look forward to the 35cts. which is given for each finished piece of work, or to the choice of retaining the piece. I take this opportunity of thanking the ladies of the committee for having attended so faithfully the weekly meetings and for having assisted in carrying on the work of cutting out garments for those poor and worthy women. I thank them also for their generous contributions of money and material. It may be well to suggest to parishoners needing any plain sewing done, that if they would give us their orders, those orders would receive especial attention from the ladies in charge, and thereby the Society would be be greatly helped.

Fresh Air Fund.

OUR Fresh Air Fund has met with a heavy loss, in which our whole Church work shares. From the very start of this work Mr. Robinson had identified himself with it, in his usual whole-souled manner. He directed the excursions of the summer, looked after the parties in their country homes, and at all times busied himself with enlarging the resources of the Fund. He had this work on his heart and took the greatest delight in the good it wrought for the poor and sick. Last spring his rapidly failing health obliged him to resign the charge of this work, and, at our rector's request, I undertook it for the summer. We have carried on the work very much as before. Having been disappointed in the expectation of securing a permanent summer home in time for this season's work, despite the long continued search of the committee of the Bureau, we finally made arrangements whereby some of our beneficiaries should be boarded at Sea Cliff, some at the Children's Aid Society Home at Bath, Long Island, and some at St. John's Guild Home on Staten Island.

Our records show that 29 women, 160 children, 1 sick man and 1 blind couple (192 in all) were sent to the country for periods ranging from 1 to 3 weeks :

and that day excursions were made to Coney Island and Rockaway Beach, by 30 women and 71 children (101 in all). The total beneficiaries of our fund thus numbered 293 persons. Our faithful visitor Mrs. Adams has had the charge of gathering these various parties and of conducting them on their journeys, and has done her arduous and responsible work with her usual ability. Not an accident has occurred during the summer to any of our charges.

We hope before another season to have in readiness a new permanent summer home, as the committee appointed by the Bureau are now in negotiation for a piece of property well situated for our purposes.

There are now in the hands of the Bureau some $5,000 towards this Summer-Home, besides which our rector has received four pledges, of $500 each, for the erection of In Memoriam Cottages.

In anticipation of extra expenses attending next season's work in our new Home, we have husbanded our funds and have left a considerable balance on hand. We trust, that the name of Mr. Robinson will be, in some way, linked with this Home, by our Bureau.

Our financial report is as follows :

Parish Visitor.

ALLOW me to thank the Bureau for the liberal financial assistance I have so kindly received. It has relieved me from a great deal of anxiety, which I have always experienced every previous summer. I will now give you a few instances of my work.

To give you an account of all the cases I have met and attended, would take all my time writing. I hardly know where to begin, as the cases are so numerous. I received a letter in which the party stated that her husband was home, sick with a cancer on his neck, that she had six children, and she was about to be confined. One of her children, a boy, was sick with malaria. In a case of this kind I bought some under-clothing and fitted them out generally, and had the husband taken to St. Luke's Hospital in a carriage. I would say right here that I am out so much that the only way these needy people can see me or communicate with me is by letter.

The following is another case : I received a note, which stated, "come and see me, we are to be put out on the street on account of non-payment of rent." I called on them and found the husband had been sick for eight months ; had him put in the hospital; he died two days later. The next day the woman was put out on the street with all she had and her four small children. I had her put in the Sheltering Arms, and put her things (what little she had) in the storage.

To give you some conception of my work I would state that in one day I sent a woman with three children to St. John's Land, sent a deaf mute, very sick, and no parents, to St. Luke's Hospital, and sent a deserted young woman with a child to the Nursery at Staten Island; and in addition went my rounds of visiting. I find there are a great many unprincipled husbands who desert their families. One I found, had done so when the wife had three children and was down with the consumption. You must see that an unseen Power is necessary to assist me in comforting and helping these poor mortals. During the months of July, August and September I placed 20 people in Hospitals and Homes. Sometimes when my nerves are unstrung, and I happen to meet a severe case, it puts my whole system to a strain which is almost unbearable, and I have to gather up all my reserve force, and then I find that all I can do in addition to what I have already done, is to pray and give them the consolation I have myself received.

Minute upon the Death of Mr.

William Henry Robinson.

PROVIDENCE has taken from us, in the person of the late Secretary of this Bureau, one, whom alike for his services in our work and for his personal character, we have held in high honor and sincere affection.

Mr. Robinson has been active in most of the various philanthropic works undertaken by our church through more than fifteen years ; in the Tenement House meetings, in the Bread and Beef House, and in the Bureau of Works and Charities. In the organization of this Bureau he was prominent, and as secretary of it he has from its inception been the main spring of its mechanism : faithfully looking after the various duties that fell to his care with unwearied interest and with perfect system.

He has always been present at our meetings when such attendance was at all possible, and even when it was dangerous to his health.

We cannot forget that in his devotion to our Bureau he fastened upon him the cold which never left him till it had done its fatal work. To his untiring services we largely owe the present efficiency of our system of administering the charities of the church. As the manager of our Fresh Air Fund he carried on one of our most interesting charities from the start; identifying himself with it enthusiastically; raising money for it and himself directing the summer arrangements.

His personal character commanded our profound respect, while it won our genuine affection. Simple and modest, gentle and gracious, full of sympathy and kindliness, upright and honorable, unaffectedly devout, fearing God and loving man, he set before us a fine example of that noblest style of man, the Christian gentleman; an example which we pray that we may follow. He was himself a fine illustration of that favorite poem which he appended to his last Fresh Air Fund Report—Abou Ben Adhem; and we are sure that the angel who records the names of those who love the Lord, as loving man, wrote his name down in the Book of life.

Those who knew him best we feel confident saw most cause to honor, trust and love him. As his presence in the body was to them a joy, so must his memory be a solace and an inspiration.
